SCHAFFNER-QUEEN CO. KEEPS ABREAST OF TIMES AS PRACTICES, CUSTOMS OF FUNERAL RITES CHANGE

Progress is the keynote of every business, but few people realize the great forward strides that have been made in the funeral director's profession. The development of the funeral home, improved equipment which is at the disposal of a family, methods so vastly superior to those formerly used, as well as a new art in the care of those entrusted to them, are a few of the things to which the industry can point with pride.

To be in line with this progress has ever been the aim of the Schaffner-Queen company. Always alert to everything that will, in any way, lighten a sorrow or serve a family better, this firm of funeral directors has kept "up-to-date" with harmonizing equipment and advanced education in its line. While striving to give the utmost in service, The Schaffner-Queen company is endeavoring to make the lowest in price. Investigation seems to prove that its services can not be duplicated at its prices. Located at 660 East Center street the funeral home is open to the public at all times. Many organizations, Sunday school classes and societies take advantage of The Schaffner-Queen company's invitation to hold their lawn parties and picnics on the lawn in the rear of the funeral home. Tables, chairs and lights are furnished, and exclusive privilege is arranged for those who call for dates. The funeral home itself is open to visitors. Many Marion folk have called and brought guests. A homelike welcome greets your entrance into the spacious walnut trimmed hallway. Nowhere can you see anything which might not be found in any other well appointed home. Their every thought seems to be in consideration of their friends. When it is required, the home belongs to friends to use as they desire. Every facility is afforded that you will find in almost any funeral home in the country.

Few realize the many services the funeral director may accomplish to relieve details or lighten burdens. It is, of course, recognized that he will execute all the legal requirements necessary. There is 24 hour service at all times to see that every detail is efficiently carried out. But with Schaffner-Queen it is the unusual service which they consider a part of their duty. Should death occur anywhere in the United States, or elsewhere, through an international connection, they are as well equipped to handle it as if it were at home. Because this firm has established these connections, and are familiar with every detail, the whole matter can be rested in their hands at the time death occurs. This, also, can be handled at much less expense than when attempted by one less versed.

Perhaps one of the most unusual services which The Schaffner-Queen company renders is the insuring of all automobiles in every funeral against liability or property damage. Whether your automobile is loaned to a family or to this funeral director direct, so long as it is being used in the conduct of one of its funerals, it is covered by this insurance—a protection to a family, their relatives and friends.

A larger and more complete selection of merchandise is also one of their policies. On the third floor of the funeral home, served by an electric elevator, is the show room, displaying furnishings of every kind from the least expensive to a solid bronze casket, various types of vaults and a most complete line of wearing apparel. In the matter of selection the show room is second to none. Services in appropriate things for every age and class are tastefully shown.

But while The Schaffner-Queen Company has been intent upon improved and unusual service, its outstanding contribution to the community is the great reductions it has made in the prices of funerals. Reductions by manufacturers in the wholesale price of merchandise together with savings in a reduced operating expense are all passed on to the customer. No greater testimony can be given to the integrity of this firm than 46 years of honest dealing and confidence.

DRYS FAIL TO AGREE ON HOOVER ATTITUDE

Head Quits Board; Resumes Shows President Too Dry.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., July 16—The prohibition board of the state today failed to agree on a recommendation to support the Hoover attitude, also urging a modification or repeal of the act, contained in a campaign policy drawn by the board yesterday.

The board, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Governor Roosevelt, based on a report that it was a relief that the prohibition made the President more than he is, said it was the national chair of the prohibition party, that resign from the board today.

The board's resume quoted in other things, President Hoover's acceptance speech of 1928, in which he said "I do not favor the Eighteenth amendment."

CONGRESS WORKS TO END SESSION TODAY

Move Made for Last-Minute Conference on Relief Bill.

minute work to reach what all members had sought for two weeks—adjournment.

When the two houses met at 10 a. m. two hours earlier than usual, leaders had their adjournment resolution ready. Its passage was delayed to prevent last minute filibusters and to make certain general approval of the $2,122,000,000 general relief program.

They had expressed hope that a compromise might be worked out on the administration's last major request, the home loan bank bill.

The house later yesterday approved all other provisions of the home loan bill but rejected 215 to 128 a proposal to accept the Glass currency plan amended by addition of the Goldborough dollar stabilization idea.

Subsequently, the senate instructed its conferees to insist upon inclusion of the Glass rider.

Although the deadline then appeared almost hopeless, Chairman Norbeck, Republican of South Dakota, of the senate conferees said his group would not insist upon final passage of the bill before adjournment.

Leaders sought the senate's final vote on the relief bill early to end the long drawn out controversy between the two houses. President Hoover and Speaker Garner. The President had warned conferees that congress must accept responsibility for requiring monthly publication of Reconstruction Finance corporation loans.

The corporation itself, in a letter to the conferees, said "such a provision is against the public interest and may result in irreparable damage."

Open Tax Records to Bank Committee

WASHINGTON, July 16—Legislation directing the secretary of the treasury to make available all income tax and revenue records to the senate banking committee was passed today by the house and sent to the President.

The resolution, previously passed by the senate, was offered in the house by Representative Rainey, the majority leader, and given the approval of Representative Snell, the minority leader.

Rainey explained the senate had directed its banking committee to investigate the treasury and internal revenue bureau, but that without an amendment to the tax laws this committee would be denied access to tax records.

IRELAND-ENGLAND TRADE WAR LOOMS

By The Associated Press
LONDON, July 16—A bitter trade war threatened relations between the Irish Free State and Great Britain today following failure of President Eamon De Valera of the Free State and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to agree on a plan for settling the land annuities controversy.

De Valera and the prime minister spent several hours in conference yesterday in an effort to agree upon a plan broached by William Norton, president of the Free State Labor party. But De Valera returned to Dublin today, the attempt unsuccessful.

In the meantime British special tariff duties were being levied on imports from the Free State, with the result that trade was at a standstill. The Free State's retaliatory tariff measure which passed the daily eirann yesterday, is ready to go to the senate today.

Reports from Dublin said not a single head of cattle was on sale yesterday, for the first time within living memory.

DRYS AGREEABLE TO RESUBMISSION

By The Associated Press
LAKESIDE, O., July 16—Ohio drys will welcome resubmission of the prohibition question, in the opinion of S. P. McNaught, superintendent of the state anti-saloon league, provided the resubmission is by the same process with which the Eighteenth amendment was adopted.

However, any attempts to find a "short cut" means of eliminating prohibition will be fought to a finish, the anti-saloon league leader said.

DISCOVERER OF POLE TO BE HONORED

Mrs. Peary, Capt. Bartlett and Mrs. Stafford. Admiral Peary.

When the schooner Effie M. Morrissey recently sailed from New York for the bleak coast of Greenland, she carried, in addition to a number of scientists and masons, Mrs. Marie Ahnighito Peary, daughter of the late Admiral Robert Peary, discoverer of the North pole, and her two sons, Peary, 14, and Edward, 12. The object of the expedition is the erection of a memorial to the great explorer at Cape York, 600 miles within the Arctic circle. It will consist of a stone shaft, 60 feet in height, surmounted by a rust-proof metal cap which will reflect the brilliance of the Arctic sun. On its base will be an engraved memorial tablet. When completed the monument will be unveiled by Mrs. Stafford. To the daughter of the famous admiral the trip is also in the nature of a visit to her birthplace, for she was born during one of Peary's expeditions to the north and for that reason was known as the "Snow-Baby." Captain Robert Bartlett, who accompanied Peary on many of his ventures as skipper of the expedition. When the admiral planted the Stars and Stripes at the top of the world in 1909 it was Captain Bob who sailed him north. Among those who waved a bon voyage to the Effie M. Morrissey was Mrs. Robert Peary, widow of the explorer, and many of Peary's old comrades. According to Captain Bartlett, the monument will take two months to build and he expects to be back in New York in October.

BLIND BOY BECOMES HERO AT SCHOOL

Saves Lives of Two Students When Canoe Capsizes.

SEATTLE, Wash.—The courage of a blind boy had carved a new name today in Seattle's honor roll of heroes.

Howard A. Dent, 19, son of H. K. Dent, Seattle capitalist, blind since he was seven years old, saved the lives of Julia Anne Foster, University of Washington sophomore, and Ernest Siegrist, of Edmonds, when their canoe capsized in Lake Washington.

Dent, an athlete in spite of his affliction, turned the canoe over in the water after the three had been hurled out of the frail craft in a sudden squall. He clung to Miss Foster and tied a buoyant cushion to her. With her clinging to the boat he helped Siegrist, not a very strong swimmer, back to the craft.

Dent was preparing to swim ashore with Miss Foster when the lake patrol rescued them. The patrol had been called by witnesses on shore.

Dent, a University of Washington junior, has won a wrestling title at the university and has also turned out for crew.

WOMAN HOPES FOR FREEDOM

Saved from Gallows, Prisoner Sees Chance of Escaping Life Term.

By International News Service
DENVER—Snatched from the gallows by the narrow margin of 48 hours after her husband had been hanged, Doris Palmer McDonald, "tiger girl," convicted of the murder of a Canadian taxi driver, still clings to the hope of ultimate freedom. She is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Kingston, Ont.

The Palmer girl and her husband, George McDonald, were arrested in Denver in August, 1927, and returned to Montreal to face trial for the murder of Adelard Bouchard, Lachine taxi driver. Both were convicted and sentenced to hang. McDonald was executed and Doris narrowly escaped the same fate. Her sentence was changed to life imprisonment.

Her hope for release is based on the dying confession of McDonald, in which he said that she was entirely innocent of complicity in the murder.

Shot in Back

The McDonalds and Ralph McMullen, now a fugitive, chartered Bouchard to drive them from Montreal to the United States border on the night of July 17, 1927. On the way, one of the trio fired four shots into the taxi driver's body, and hurled him out to die in a ditch at the roadside. They then sped onward in his car.

They were captured in Denver four weeks later. The crown contended that regardless of who fired the shots which killed Bouchard, all three were jointly guilty as they were jointly engaged in a criminal undertaking at the time.

The jury which convicted the couple recommended mercy for the girl, but Mr. Justice Walsh had no alternative but to impose the mandatory death sentence upon both. In her death cell, Doris turned to the solace of religion. She still protested her innocence, but declared herself willing to die.

Prayer Answered

Her prayers were answered 48 hours before the time set for her death. The Canadian department of justice commuted her sentence of death, to one of life imprisonment.

Counsel for the convicted woman has their hopes for further clemency on the dying statement of her husband.

"I am ready to die, and I wish to speak the truth," McDonald wrote. "My wife, Doris McDonald, is innocent of the murder of Adelard Bouchard. I swear to this by my God in heaven. She had not one thing to do with the murder, nor did she help in any way. The confession which she signed is untrue."

Her attorneys further declare that the confession which she signed was improperly extorted from her.

MRS. ALICE KRANER DIES AT AMBLER, PA.

Body Will Be Brought Here for Funeral Service Tuesday Afternoon.

Word has been received from Wells Kranner of Ambler, Pa. of the death of his mother, Mrs. Alice Kranner, widow of Charles F. Kranner, yesterday morning at that place. The message did not state the cause of death.

The body will arrive in Marion Monday at 11:30 a. m. and will be taken home on East Center street where funeral services will be held Tuesday at 3 p. m. Rev. Howard L. Olenick, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot in the Marion cemetery.

Mrs. Kranner's maiden name was Alice Winder. She was about 60 years of age and is survived by her son, Wells Kranner. Mr. Kranner died 10 years ago and a son, Earl Kranner died in Mexico in 1910.

WORKERS UNCOVER TRAGEDY OF WEST

By International News Service
ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A tragedy of the old west was uncovered here when workmen, excavating for a highway, unearthed the skeletons of a man, woman and two children.

Nearby were the remains of a buggy and the skeletons of two horses.

It was estimated that the bones which were found under 15 feet of dirt, had been buried for 60 or 70 years.

Nothing was found to indicate how the four humans and the horses met death. That death was sudden and unexpected, however, was suggested from the position of the skeletons.

Theorists include the possibility of an Indian massacre, a massacre of the cowboys, or the discovery that might be the party alive.

VICTIM OF ANIMAL MUTINY

It was while conducting a rehearsal, such as the one in which she is pictured here, that Marlon Knowlton, 34-year-old lion tamer, sustained the injuries that almost resulted in her death. Miss Knowlton was horribly mangled by a lioness while practicing one of her daring acts at Luna Park, Coney Island. Attendants managed to beat off the enraged animal and rescued the unconscious girl from the cage. Doctors say she has a fair chance of recovery.

Miss Gladys Dixon will be in charge of plans for the candle light service which will be a feature of the services Sunday night, Aug. 28.

Arrangements for music throughout the month are in charge of Miss Helen Anderson who will act as general chairman and name her assistants. The decorating of the church for each of the services will be in charge of Miss Gertrude Tumbleton and Miss Olive Primm and Robert Stout will serve as publicity chairman.

Church News Told in Brief

Sermon Topic—"The Parable of the Leaven" is the subject of the sermon to be delivered by Rev. W. Martell George Sunday morning at Wesley M. E. church. The sermon will be the fourth in a series of messages being delivered by the pastor on "The Parables of Jesus."

To Tell of Trip—Earl N. Hale will speak on his observations of his western trip at the Sunday morning services at Salem Evangelical church. Mr. Hale recently returned from Seattle, Wash., where he attended the international Rotary convention. His talk will embrace Seattle and Yellowstone National Park.

Service Combined—Members of the Sunday school and church congregation of the First Reformed church will meet in a combined service Sunday at 9 a. m. All members of the Sunday school are requested to remain for the entire service.

To Conduct Service—Mrs. Carolyn Shambaugh will conduct the worship service when the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Prospect Street M. E. church meets Thursday evening in the church parlors. Mite boxes will be opened and a program under the direction of Mrs. Nettie Hacker, will be presented. Hostesses will be Mrs. John Schott, Mrs. E. O. Hecker, Mrs. LeRoy Diehl and Mrs. S. M. Oswald.

To Preach Sunday—Rev. Thomas Clarke Davis of LaRue, licentiate of the Oakland Evangelical church here, will deliver the sermon at Calvary Evangelical church Sunday morning it is announced. There will be no evening service. Rev. Davis also will conduct the adult Bible study hour at 6:30 p. m. at Oakland Evangelical church.

Song Service—Members of the Young People's choir of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church will conduct the song service Sunday night at the regular church services. The pastor, Rev. J. A. Carraker will be in charge of the "question and answer" program, a newly-instituted feature of the church calendar. Questions pertaining to Bible history and characters are discussed during the religious hour.

Lord's Supper—Observance of the Lord's supper and a sermon by the pastor, Rev. B. Tyler Gates will occupy the morning service hour Sunday at St. Paul's English Lutheran church.

To Hold Picnic—Devotional services will follow the supper hour at the annual picnic to be held by Trinity Baptist Sunday school and church congregation Wednesday afternoon and evening at Garfield park. The service will take the place of the regular Wednesday

The Soul's Sure Refuge

A SERMONETTE BY REV. IRVIN KAUFFMAN, Pastor of Greenwood Evangelical Church. Psalm 143:1—Deliver me, O Lord, from mine enemies: I will flee unto thee to hide me.

IN this way the Psalmist sets forth the soul's swift flight to its sure refuge in God. The man who wrote this Psalm was evidently a man who had been severely tried. But he received help from God, so there is hope for us all; for God is no respecter of persons but is a sure refuge for everyone in trouble.

Though this is the only refuge provided for the soul many fail to find it and others only find it at rare intervals. Many when in trouble flee away from God rather than to Him. These can't stand adversity. These represent the thorny ground hearers of whom it is said that the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word and they become unfruitful.

The tempter suggests all manner of false refuges for a soul in trouble. He sends them to their friends who oftentimes are as helpless as they. He sends them to the world but the world has troubles of its own. He even sends them to church but not to God.

A woman who was in great trouble at last confided in a friend. She said, "I have thought the matter through from every side. I have thought of everything but I can't see my way out. It seems that the only thing left for me to do is to trust in God." Her friend answered, "Oh I hope he isn't as bad as that. Surely we can find some way out of all this." Apparently to the mind of each of these to trust in God meant to acknowledge at once that the case was hopeless.

But this shelter is most trustworthy and worthwhile. The great law giver said—"The eternal God is your refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms." (Deuteronomy 33:27) The Psalmist said—"For in the time of trouble He shall hide me in His pavilion: In the secret of His tabernacle shall He hide me; He shall set me upon a rock. And now shall my head be lifted up above my enemies: round about me, therefore will I offer in His tabernacle sacrifices of joy: I will sing, yea, I will sing praises unto the Lord." (Psalm 27:1-6)

Moses the deliverer of the Hebrews, said—"The Lord shall fight for you; and ye shall hold your peace" (Exodus 14:14)

Here Are Highlights of 1932 Chautauqua Program

Entertainers engaged for the five-day Chautauqua program, which will open Sunday, July 24, are listed as outstanding in their profession and promise patrons of this year's presentation a varied and interesting week. The Chautauqua will open this year with a vesper service at 3:30 p. m. followed by a grand concert by the Welsh Imperial singers at 7:30 p. m.

"Who's Who" in Marion's Chautauqua this year follows:
The Welsh Imperial singers—Artistically superb, possessing personality and great heart appeal, the Welsh Imperial singers have been acclaimed on their concert tours abroad, as well as in the United States and in Canada as the greatest male ensemble.

The Filipino Collegians—They are star musicians and entertainers. They bring the fascinating music of the South Seas, Filipino folk songs and some of the popular music of today with a Spanish background. They are among the most popular companies on the Chautauqua platform.

Captain Dinamore Upton—He is known as "Big Brother" to a hundred thousand kids. Known throughout two continents for his great work with the boys and girls, he is a dynamic speaker who quickly captures his audience with his humor, contagious enthusiasm and sincere earnestness.

The S. S. Henry company—A company of magicians who are different. For 20 years they have brought joy to enthusiastic audiences over the entire continent. Elaborate draperies, floodlights, beautiful costumes make a fairyland background. They carry a ton of equipment, including a "menagerie" of small animals and fowls.

Anne Campbell—Famed as the only woman in the country to write a poem a day. All over the land newspapers carry her feature poems. These poems are notable for their sunny optimism, sincerity and intimate touch with everyday life.

The Freeman Hammond players—They have achieved enviable success on the metropolitan stage as well as on Chautauqua platforms. "Chicken Feed" is an amusing drama of the family puzzle. Every woman and man in town will want to hear its theme interesting and amusing from start to finish. One of the most popular successes on Broadway in recent years, "Your

Pig Latin

WE were startled out of several years' growth recently to hear a couple of street waifs speaking a language, if it may be called one, that we hadn't heard for a couple of years and then some.

... I was that old lingo, pig latin, with which the smarties were wont to bewilder those not in on the class, or who were giving their time to something useful when this particular class was in session.

Ohio's Budget Balancing.

The tax problem this year is to revise estimates of revenue downward far enough in advance of expenditures to hold something resembling a balance of the budget. Ohio is going to be forced to sail close to the wind the rest of the year. Governor White has ordered a $1,200,000 cut in expenditures, which is equal to five per cent of the total appropriations for personal service and maintenance during the year.

It was the state's bad luck to pick one of the most difficult periods in national history to try out a new scheme of taxation. The change would have been difficult in itself, but with it came another unfavorable factor—the basis of intangible property on which it was built never has been shakier than it is now. Confusion added to confusion and mixed well with a major financial depression have made a pretty mess for Ohio.

Governor White seems determined to drive the state's expenditures downward as far as they will go. The situation is not presented to the people as sufficiently grave to cause alarm, but perhaps its failure to get as much attention as the national budget problem is due to the relative size of the figures involved. Still, the $4,000,000 that Ohio has had to "borrow" from its highway fund to replenish its general revenue fund is as important within this state as any of the figures 50 times as great in the problems of the federal government.

A Matter of Method.

Impatient people will not be happy thinking about the proposed St. Lawrence seaway. It is not destined to be an example of a project clearly conceived, speedily executed and eminently satisfactory.

There is agreement on but one thing: there is need for a seaway between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic ocean. From that point thought and proposals branch out in almost as many different directions as there are human and national ambitions.

Americans, naturally, would like to have an all-American route. Just as naturally Canadians are in favor of an all-Canadian route. The White House has announced that terms of an agreement have been settled, but whether the announcement is to offset Governor Roosevelt's recent demand for action or actually means that settlement has been effected is yet to be revealed. At any rate, divergent views on location of the seaway call for compromise number one.

Compromise number two (it is manifestly impossible to name them all) must be struck between President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt, representing, respectively, the United States and the state of New York. The St. Lawrence project is a power as well as a navigation project. Mr. Hoover is interested in navigation possibilities; his interest extends back a dozen years when the possibility of a seaway was introduced. Mr. Roosevelt, however, is interested in power possibilities. Being rivals for the presidency, these two Americans darken the project of any congenial agreement on their conflicting views. Assuredly, they will do their level best to get New York and the federal government to lock horns if there is any possibility of personal gain from such a struggle.

Fortunately the project has been held up so long that the public's disappointment will be no greater over a 50-year delay than another decade of maneuvering among the politicians, lawyers, economists, engineers, financiers and horse traders. A naive person might fall into the mistake of believing that construction of the seaway would be the main worry. On the contrary, the first shovelful of earth that is removed will mark the beginning of the easiest part of the job.

Getting Even.

Chicago school teachers, their salaries sacrificed these many months to their city's notorious improvidence, have been abused into a temper calling for direct action. They will picket business houses whose owners are listed as tax delinquents. They will demand that the state's attorney and the federal district attorney use the power of their office to punish tax evaders. Sentimentalists may praise them as naive for the fine spirit they have shown, but praise doesn't write salary checks. Chicago must collect its taxes.

There is a significant demonstration of the inevitable unity of democratic society in the situation—unity which makes it impossible for a taxpayer to step out from under his responsibilities without getting another load twice as heavy. Chicago residents who willfully have evaded payment of taxes, excusing their action, perhaps, by disbanding with profligate waste of public money, have been guilty of cutting off their noses to spite their faces. School teachers going about the unaccustomed task of forcing the people they serve to pay them so they can continue to give a needed service is a bit of unreality that might have been plucked out of a Gilbert and Sullivan fantasy.

Chicago, being big and famous, gets the spotlight. None but a Chicago taxpayer would be guilty of hiding behind hard times to admit that, so far as he was concerned, a taxpayers' strike was in effect. Schools, public services, and other honest taxpayers.

bad faith—but only in Chicago, of course. The sad part is that this particular kind of "getting even" foolish as it is in an interdependent society, seems to be the only way the inarticulate citizen has of showing his disapproval of the way his affairs are managed. Perhaps it is only by way of making himself suffer and by depriving his children of education that he can build within himself that vigorous consciousness of government that optimists are confident will insure the more perfect government of the future.

Gentlemen's Agreement.

Any doubt about the American attitude on war debts that may have found root in the European mind certainly must have been destroyed by the recent show of congressional inactivity. Their suspensions kept by sympathy for taxpayers, the senate watchdogs showed conclusively that they were alive on the job and no slick foreigners were not going to put anything over on them.

Gentlemen's agreement! What an opening that was for some watchful fellow to charge through and uncover evidence of a sinister plot. Washington's air was heavy and hot with the speeches of the international detectives who refused to be fooled. Gentlemen's agreement, indeed! Why even their own state department had conspired with the Europeans to hide its hand behind the blackguardly device.

It is almost too bad that the plot had to blow up in the midst of so much bluster. The watchdogs have been made to look a little more foolish than ever. The thing they were preparing so nobly to kill was entirely harmless, according to various bland descriptions of it from European sources. From domestic sources, too, they have been reproved gently. Surely, the state department has reasoned with them, it should be above suspicion on a matter of such grave importance as the war debts. What wrong is there in this nation's debtors in Europe making ratification of an important agreement contingent upon satisfactory settlement of their debts with the United States, those debtors have asked? To all this the senate watchdogs can but rumble in their muzzles and seek to close the incident. They have no answer.

That won't prevent them from trying to give one, of course. Circumstances and tradition forbid treatment of the highly important problem of the war debts in any fashion but that of demagoguery. Europe has expressed the hope that America will be far sighted and generous in her disposition of the debts. One wonders where those qualities will come from after the recent display of unreasonable temper.

Nobody has been able to figure out any personal benefits from the increased federal taxes, and even those who have surmised that the boost in postal rates might cut down the number of monthly reminders from creditors are likely to be disappointed.

Passing of a Reputation.

Comment on the current political era would be incomplete without some mention of what seems to be taking place in Wisconsin, stronghold of the La Follette dynasty.

There was no mention of the name in the Republican convention this year, despite stories still current of its former magic. The Wisconsin delegation came with no avowed purpose of whooping up the progressive cause. The platform contained no minority report with the La Follette label.

Reports from Wisconsin do not quibble about the possibility of flinging on probability that the governorship may pass out of La Follette control this year. Philip, the younger of the La Follette boys has tried his best and probably would have been generously rewarded with popularity in more normal times, but even a progressive is no exception to the rule that hard times and promises that couldn't be kept make a fatal combination for the "ins."

The older brother, Robert, still gets his name in the news with reasonable regularity, but there is a great deal of disturbing talk back in his state about a young newspaper editor, John B. Chapple, who claims to be nothing but a Republican. Once it would have been unthinkable that any man so old fashioned might take a senatorship from the La Follettes, but their man, Senator Blaine, isn't so sure of reelection this year. The bearer of the magic name has two more years to serve, but a great many things can happen before he goes before the voters again. The charm laid on Wisconsin voters by one of the greatest of all Americans isn't being preserved intact by his sons.

Comment of the Press

FEWER AND BIGGER.

Movements for church union, seeking to reduce the multiplicity of denominations, seem in practice to meet many obstacles, but the cause apparently will not down.

Monday the Reformed Church of the United States (the "German Reformed") body in its official session at Akron approved plans for a merger with the Evangelical Synod of North America, also German in history and tradition. The latter denomination will act on the proposal in the autumn. The Evangelical Synod is the American descendant of the state church of Prussia, which was formed as a merger of the Reformed and Lutheran churches of that state.

The Reformed Church in the United States, together with the Reformed Church in America ("Dutch Reformed"), is one of the great "family" of Presbyterian and Reformed churches, which are identical in methods of government, the Presbyterians being the British and the Reformed the continental expression of this system.

A union of all these groups into one denomination has been proposed. The Presbyterian Church in the United States of America (the national or "northern" body) and the United Presbyterian Church (strongest in Ohio and Pennsylvania) have tentatively approved a union but the Presbyterian Church in the United States (the southern body) holds aloof.

It has been suggested that the pending union of the Reformed Church and the Evangelical Synod would not need to interfere with the later entrance of the combined denomination into a wider Presbyterian union.

Many religious leaders see in such unions within denominational "families" a first step toward still more inclusive mergers of great Protestant bodies. It is pointed out that such preliminary unions preceded the formation of the United Church of Canada by Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists of the Dominion several years ago.

Union of northern and southern Methodist Episcopal churches and the Methodist Protestant Church would be of similar force, and Lutherans have already accomplished a certain amount of such regrouping.—Columbus Citizen.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

Most Likely Victims of Croup.

Some delicate children have sensitive nervous systems, with a tendency to catarrhal conditions, and they are the ones who are liable to contract croup.

The disease is seldom found in babies younger than six months, and is most common between the ages of six months and three years. False croup, as the doctor calls it, is a spasm of the windpipe, and is accompanied by difficult breathing.

The disease is thought by many to be due to an infection, but this has not been definitely proved. The fact that exposure to cold and dampness often bring on an attack would seem to be against this theory.

When a child apparently in good health develops a hoarse barking cough this is always regarded by parents as a "croup" cough. The child should be kept in a room of even temperature because the cough usually grows worse as the coolness of night approaches. The child may go to sleep as usual, but some time during the night awaken with a cry of distress, and clutch its throat in an effort to get its breath. Breathing is done with a loud, whistling sound, and the child's face is congested and has a look of acute distress.

The severity of the seizure subsides gradually and disappears in from one to three hours, and then the child sleeps quietly. In the morning it may awaken seemingly little the worse for the croup, but there may be another attack the next night, or even on a third night. This is very apt to be the case if the child is not treated to relieve the congestion of the larynx.

Every mother should know what to do until the doctor comes. Hot applications applied to the throat and chest, and steam inhalations, often give relief. A drink of hot milk, if the child can be induced to swallow, is excellent.

Between attacks a nourishing diet should be given, building up the general health. If the child is of an irritable, nervous temperament, he should lead as quiet a life as possible. A physician should always be consulted in regard to the condition of the throat, as the tonsils and adenoids may require attention.

MEDARY'S SUN.

Among the newspapers of Ohio, the Clermont Sun, established by Samuel Medary in 1828, soon after he came from his native Pennsylvania to this state, stands out as one of the oldest in continuous publication and one whose name has remained the same throughout 100 years. Located in a purely rural county and yet so near to Cincinnati, its owners seem to keep felt that it would be best to keep the Sun in the groove where it was set by its founders, unpretentiously, but satisfactorily meeting the requirements of the people of the county.

There are two other newspapers, weekly, like the Sun, published at Batavia but neither of its competitors has a circulation in excess of that of the Sun.

Ability was Medary's principal asset in this venture, for he had neither capital or experience. He had to learn all he knew of the technique of publishing a newspaper as he went along. But he soon convinced himself that he could succeed in the newspaper business, and selling his property at Batavia he came to a larger field in Columbus, where as editor of the Ohio Statesman he made himself one of the best known and most influential editors in Ohio.

Nothing amuses more than a French gendarme trying to stop a street fracas. Mark Twain interests more than any other figure in American literature. A favorite feminine name is Lois. If business isn't on the upshot when this appears, I'll never guess about it again.

I've a secret admiration for a rogue. But can't stand a willful liar. No person irritates so much as a woman with a few cocktails repeating herself. I can't reconcile my acute sensitivity to animal suffering with a ravenous appetite for all meats. I've never known a native of Annapolis, Md. The most attractive New York church, to me, is at the northwest corner of Fifth avenue and 37th street. I spend an hour or so a week pleasantly studying the dictionary. And am generally first to arrive at a dinner party. I envy the confident assurance of S. Jay Kauffman in facing crowds.

Otto Kahn is the wisest of all the celebrities to caricature on the stage. Every now and then I am tortured by fear I've swallowed a sliver of glass. The most enthusiastic Irishman I know is Patrick Shanley of California. I'm a sucker for every new shaving lotion. I've talked more to barbers than I've ever talked to me, and I'd rather live in a theatrical boarding house than the grandest penthouse. Odor of bananas reminds me of hospitals and nothing nauseates me like cigar ends in a half-filled coffee cup. I think Schmelzing was robbed. He won all the way.

Some day I'll start around the world on 24 hours notice. If I planned I would never go. I wouldn't visit a gypsy camp alone for anything. A cobra fascinates me. I like booths in restaurants where you can get away with a little plain and fancy gypsy soup. I sat next to a woman at a ping-pong table who had occupied the same chair continuously for 52 hours. That's a hunk of sitting.

A regular correspondent is Billy Bryant, river showman. James Wood is my favorite hotel man. A lightning display on the Arizona desert from a train window was the most beautiful I ever beheld. Records Shattered as Stars Battle for Olympic Berth

SENSATIONAL MARKS RECORDED IN FINAL CALIFORNIA TRIALS

Several Athletes Get New Qualifying Chance as Rule Is Changed.

By The Associated Press
PALO ALTO, Calif., July 16.—The American Olympic track and field trials today reached their final stage with another sensational controversy gathering headway and the defeat of Ben Eastman in the elimination of the big Ben Eastman in prospect.

After a record-breaking day, the Olympic track and field committee, under pressure, broke precedent by deciding to extend the qualifying limit in all field events from five to eight.

The decision was made public as unanimous but it was preceded by a stormy session last night and immediately stirred up an east-west controversy in the official family that dwarfed the recent debate over the limiting of easterners at the inter-collegiate A. A. A. championships.

The effect of the ruling was to put a total of 18 men back into the final competition, after they had apparently been eliminated. Of these nine were far western athletes and included such conspicuous performers as Dick Barber of Southern California, intercollegiate broad jump champion; Ken Churchill and James De Mars, record-holders in the javelin, and Bob Jones of Stanford, intercollegiate discus champion. Only a matter of inches separated some of these stars from getting within the first five.

Must Do Better
Even with another chance, however, all of them faced the necessity of making big comebacks to gain one of the three places allotted to each event for the Olympic team.

Meanwhile the east figured to consolidate its advances, paced by the world record feats of John Anderson in throwing the discus 155.4 feet and Leo Sexton in hurling the 16-pound shot 52 feet, 8 inches.

The middle west, coming through superbly in the track events, looked to Eddie Tolon, dusky flier from Michigan, as the best bet to sweep the sprint finals. The south, too, showed strongly, with Emmet Toppino of New Orleans in the 100, Johnny Morris, an assistant school principal from Abbeville, La., the high hurdle sensation and a chance to sweep all three places in the hop step and jump.

On one of its most famous battle grounds, the far western brigade by contrast, faced a terrific battle to come back after the shocks to its track and field prestige. Outstanding were the prospects that speedsters such as Eastman and Frank Wyckoff, the southern California sprint ace, would be hard-pressed even to make the team, let alone win their favorite events this afternoon.

Eastman Off Form
Eastman looked away off form in his 400-meter trial by comparison with the dazzling performance of his intercollegiate conqueror, Bill Carr of Pennsylvania. The blond Stanford star won his heat beating James Gordon of Los Angeles, among others, in 48.8 seconds but this was more than a second slower than Carr for the other heat, and Big Ben actually had to fight every step of the last 200 meters to do even that well.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette Negro sensation of the mid-western tryouts, was slow in getting under way in the 100-meters qualifying third in the heat in which Emmet Toppino of New Orleans beat George Simpson in only 10.5 seconds. Metcalfe came back in the 200, however, to beat Simpson in 21.7. The third trial in the 200 went to Bob Kelsel, University of California "bullet," in 21.8.

The surprise entry in the hurdles proved to be Morris, who whipped Percy Beard, national champion, and then outraced George Saling of Iowa in the semi-finals of the 110-meter gallop over the high stakes. Saling, in the earlier test, equalled the Olympic records of 14.6 seconds and Jack Keller of Ohio State duplicated the feat in the semi-finals.

KAY PEEES TURN IN WIN OVER PROSPECT

Kappas Stave Off Rally To Beat Masons, 4-3; Presbyterian A. C., St. Paul Both Beaten.

By Bob Kirkpatrick
Sports Editor, The Star
The Knights of Pythias' softball team racked up another victory yesterday and clung to its half game advantage over the second place Kappas of the Commercial league but it took them nine long innings to gain the decision. The Prospect Firemen were the victims of the Kay Peees pace setters by a 2-1 margin. The Kappas kept right on the heels of the leaders by taking the measure of the Masons, long time team, 4-3. In the other two games, neither of which had any influence on the league leaders, the Erie Traffic club pounded out an 8-4 victory over the Presbyterian A. C. and St. Paul's Episcopal dropped its ninth successive start to the Serv-U-Wel Grocers by a 12-1 score.

Dale Schwaderer acted in the role of both leading pitcher and batsman as the Kay Peees stopped Prospect. The flashy right hander let the Firemen down with only three hits in the nine innings and then drove in the winning tally in the last half of the ninth with a clean single. The Kay Peees nicked Dutch Lauer for nine hits but couldn't bunch them effectively. The score stood 1-1 at the end of the regulation playing time.

Masons in Rally
The Kappas were forced to withstand a furious seventh inning rally on the part of the Masons before they were able to claim the victory and the right to continue in second place. Gander set the Masons down with one hit, a single by Ling, in the first six innings but his slams suddenly became no puzzle to the Masons and they raked him for three hits and as many runs. The 1931 champs just managed to cling to their margin as Gander got the last man out with the tying marker on third base. John Gillis contributed a home run but the bases deserted to aid the Kappas. The winners touched Maury Whittem, Masonic rookie pitcher, for six hits. However three of the six were extra base clouts and proved the undoing of the Masonic cause.

St. Paul's Episcopal handed another ball game away yesterday when they played the Serv-U-Wel Grocers. A series of misplays allowed the Grocersmen to coast through the game without exerting themselves. Stirling Somerlot allowed the losers only three hits and the one run came as the result of a wild throw. The winners banged out 12 safeties and made a run for each of them.

Two big innings provided enough talismans to enable the Erie Traffic club to come home an easy victor over the Presbyterian A. C. by an 8-4 score. Bob Adams turned in two triples and Mill Pohler smacked a homer for the winners.

Batting Leaders Slip But Both Retain Top Positions
By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 16.—Batting leaders of both big leagues passed through a poor week as the days grew warmer and the pitchers correspondingly tough, but neither Jimmie Foxx in the American league or Paul Waner in the National was in immediate danger of losing his laurels.

Although he lost five points during the week, Foxx continued to hit .372 for the Athletics in addition to leading in three other departments, and Waner though dropping to .367, still was well in front in the National circuit.

Hurst of the Phillies retained his status as runner-up to Waner, with .359, and Earl Averill of Cleveland .358.

3 SOFTBALL TILTS CARDED SUNDAY

MARION, DELAWARE, COLUMBUS, NEWARK AT NORTH SIDE PARK

Colored Team Slated To Play in Second Contest; Start at 1:30 P. M.

Next the last of the one-day softball tournaments which have been a weekly feature at Lincoln park since Memorial day will be staged Sunday with four teams fighting for possession of the trophy which goes to the winner. Marion, Delaware, Columbus and Newark will be represented this week. The final one-day meet will be held next Sunday after which the Ohio State championship tourney is slated to get under way.

The games this Sunday are almost certain to continue the hard-fought competition which has been in evidence all summer in the tournaments. The first game is slated to commence at 1:30 p. m. between the Market & Lewis Hardware of Marion and the Delaware Elks. Immediately following this game the White & Sons Morticians, a fast Columbus colored outfit, will collide with the Pharis Tire & Rubber company combine of Newark. This will be Newark's first rally into tournament competition here.

The White & Sons Morticians are rated as an even faster team than the Pharis Tire & Rubber combine of Newark. The colored combine, which played here last Sunday, the Morticians won the first half championship of the fastest colored league in Columbus this season and are now fighting for the second crown.

The Newark Tire combine has been hanging up a good record in its home ballpark against competition which it will stack up against today. It remains to be seen but the club's manager is confident his team will measure up to most any standard of play.

The Market & Lewis nine will be another all-star aggregation. Hack Wilson will do the catching and an effort was being made today to sign Don Lamphar of Lima to come here and do the flinging. If Lamphar is not available the starting pitcher is not certain.

Other members of the squad will be Marshall, Abraham, Kerr, Ling, O'Connell, McAninch and Gander, as well as several others of equal ability.

The Delaware Elks played here last season in the central Ohio championship tournament and made a first class showing. Five of the nine team members are Ohio Wesleyan university varsity athletes. The Elks stars are Facchini, Coyner, Wagner, Whiting and Skatz. Schweitzer, another member of the club, is hitting the ball at a 430 clip in home town games.

Paul Rice and Ed Johnson will again handle the officiating. The games will start promptly at 1:30.

MILLERS ADVANCE

Minneapolis Beats Indians in 10-Inning Clash; Columbus Wins.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 16.—Today was the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the American Association.

Donie Bush's gang of Millers yesterday won a ten inning battle from Indianapolis, 19 to 9, and increased their margin over the Indians to five full games.

The victory was Minneapolis' eighth in a row.

Milwaukee continued to make progress in the race by slugging two Toledo pitchers for 16 hits and a 9 to 4 victory.

St. Paul also made a belated finish to defeat Louisville, 8 to 7.

Columbus finally broke out of its long losing streak by a 5 to 2

Crawford Takes Batting Lead in Association Race

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 16.—There was nothing unlucky about the thirteenth week of the American Association season for Clifford (Pat) Crawford, Columbus' first baseman, for he landed at the peak of the individual batting race.

Including Thursday's games Crawford had an average of .378, three points ahead of his teammate, Evar Swanson who made a gain of four points over his leading mark of last week.

Crawford also had connected safely 143 times for a total base collection of 230. Swanson was the leader in batting in runs, with 87, and was tied with Odell Hale, Toledo infielder, in triples at 11 each.

Joe Hauser, Minneapolis continued to put away in the home runs, slugging out five last week for a total of 28. Crawford ranked second with 21. Joe Mowry, the Minneapolis youngster, held the scoring lead with 92 runs, and Bill Knickerbocker of Toledo, got seven doubles to lead with 37.

Following Crawford and Swanson were the following high regulars: Gullie, Milwaukee, .374; Cullop, Columbus, .373; Mowry, Minneapolis, .358; Pick, Kansas City, .356; Rosenberg, Indianapolis, .354; Powers, Toledo, .352; Tait, Indianapolis, .351, and O. Hale, Toledo, .336.

Joe Heying, big Indianapolis right-hander, led the regular pitchers with 10 victories and two defeats. Russ Van Alta had 12 victories and six defeats. Bill Lee of Columbus, had 11 triumphs and three defeats and Jack Knott of Milwaukee had the same number of victories and one more defeat.

The Red Birds, in spite of their disastrous slump, added a point to their team batting mark and led with .320, while St. Paul led in fielding with .977. The Saints also was ahead in double plays with 123 to 88 for Indianapolis.

To Play Martel.

The Oakland All-Stars will play Martel Sunday afternoon at the Marion Steam Shovel athletic field. The All-Stars dropped a recent tilt to this team and will be seeking revenge this week.

KREMER ALLOWS THREE HITS AS BI STOP BOSTON BRA

Cubs Also Win in Nat League; Cleveland Vict Streak Broken.

By The Associated Press
Rival National league man should have the privilege of testing to somebody if George son of the Pirates pulls just more three-hit pitcher out of hat.

By all the standards, Gage ready had exceeded the big bat by producing two such phenoms Steve Swetonic and Bill Swift single season, but he has not another to make life miserable for the opposition.

Remy Kremer is the late come under the Gibson spell. He was turned loose against Boston Braves yesterday, and in a 1 to 0 victory for the sairs. It was only the second plate game for Kremer this season.

Matching the leaders stride, the Chicago Cubs hur Brooklyn, 8 to 3, as Lonnie neke registered his thirteenth victory.

The Phillies fought 12 before they subdued Cincinnati to 3.

Freddie Lindstrom's homer the bases full and Mel Ott's bagger with three on features Giants' 12 to 4 triumph over St. Louis Cardinals.

Cleveland's wild ride through eastern sector of the American league was halted when the 100s knocked Wes Ferrell from hill and won 8 to 5.

Washington ran its win streak to seven straight at the expense of the St. Louis Browns to 7.

Despite Al Simmons' three runs and a double driving it runs, the Athletics dropped a 10 to 10 decision to Detroit in 11 innings.

The Chicago White Sox picked the eleventh inning in a defeat Boston 4 to 2.

Lee Street Leading.

Lee Street Presbyterians finished the first round of play yesterday in the Intermediate Sunday school league with a perfect record. The leaders defeated the Northern Stars 6-3 to close the first round. St. Mary won from Pitt Memorial 2-0. Epworth defeated First Presbyterian, 10-4 and Calvary took a forfeit decision from Pleasant Trinity Lutheran, 9-0.

All-Stars To Play.

The Marion All-Stars softball team will play a double header Sunday afternoon at Garfield park against the Spartan A. C. Francis Robbins will pitch the first game for the All-Stars.

Parents and Friends of Boys Present as Troop Members Are Honored.

Twenty-seven Boy Scouts received awards at the campfire held in the council ring at Camp John A. Owens last night. The awards were made in the presence of a large number of parents and friends following a program of camp songs, ceremonies and demonstrations put on by the various troops.

Red Cross awards for proficiency in swimming were presented by V. R. Gilmore, Thomas Fetter, Dick R. Gilmore, Richard Andrews, John Fogle, Richard and Jack Hensel were presented with beginners' buttons while the swimmers button was presented to Robert Dutt, Karl Rehtle, John Williams, William Weston, James Hamilton, William Locke, Don Garver, Bruce Tibbles, Thomas Fulton and Ross Aiken. Swimmers merit badges were presented to William Leffler, Jr., Vernon Gilmore and Howard Doyle.

Five Scouts qualified for second class rank, Ross Aiken, and Paul Messenger of troop 2, John Williams and John Turner of troop 13 and Robert Shiffer of troop 25 of Upper Sandusky. A first class badge was awarded to Richard Kissell of troop 3.

A short talk was made by the Scouts by J. Fred Dombagh, a former Scout Master of troop 1 who congratulated the boys on their activities.

Health Record Good.

BUCYRUS, July 16—An enviable record of health was revealed in a checkup by county health authorities

today, when it was reported by

Dr. G. T. Wasson, health commissioner, that not one contagious disease exists in the county. The report also shows that only two

quarantine cards have been placed on Crawford county homes since

Jan. 1. With the exception of the city of Galion, the report covers

the entire county and communities.

Health Record Good.

BUCYRUS, July 16—An enviable

record of health was revealed in a

checkup by county health authorities

today, when it was reported by

Dr. G. T. Wasson, health commissioner, that not one contagious disease exists in the county. The report also shows that only two

quarantine cards have been placed on Crawford county homes since

Jan. 1. With the exception of the city of Galion, the report covers

the entire county and communities.
